

Advent One Give Water, Give Life		Great Grandmother Farazia is 78 years old and lives in the dry south of Uganda. She saves every coin she can for a new rainwater tank. Every month she takes her money to the village caregivers meeting where it is recorded in her account. She can see the difference a tank makes to other families affected by HIV and AIDS like hers. With a tank, her grandchildren will not have to walk for hours to collect water that needs to be filtered when they get home. With clean water, they will be healthy and go to school everyday. They will have energy for their chores and can grow better food. She wants this for her grandchildren. It is her prayer. Give water, give life. Support the 2019 Christmas Appeal.
Advent Two Protect Water, Give Life		The sounds are loud on a South Indian beach. Fisherfolk spend their days mending nets, helping the boats come and go, gathering seafood and seaweed or making snacks to sell. There is much chatter, and the smell of fresh fish and the ocean is everywhere. Further up the coast, there is only the sound of the sea lapping against an empty beach, home to a massive

		power plant where the people cannot go. Like Meenakshi, a seaweed diver, they want access to the sea that sustains their life. Working with Neythal, the fisherfolk are monitoring the coast so they can use the results as evidence in legal proceedings. They want to protect their homes and livelihoods for their children. Protect water, give life. Support the 2019 Christmas Appeal.
Advent Three Recycle Water, Give Life		Miguel is proud of his garden, which sustains his family in Nicaragua. He has lost many crops to drought and the family had one meal a day. “We had to ration food,” he says. He is glad to be part of an agricultural programme run by CEPAD, the Council of Protestant Churches. Installing a new irrigation system means he can grow more food and save the time it took to walk to the river. He has learned to use compost, mulch and all the grey water he can. The seeds and plants provide new vegetables and fruit. Always a very kind man, he is eager to share what he learns with others. Years of poor harvests have left small farmers with no buffer against drought. They want to learn new farming skills and drink safe water. Recycle water, give life. Support the 2019 Christmas Appeal.

Advent Four Share Safe Water, Save Lives		Tanti remembers the fear she felt when an earthquake destroyed her home in Central Sulawesi, Indonesia last September. She hugged her mother and ran from the house. Later a devastating tsunami hit the coast. This double disaster destroyed water and sanitation systems leaving people thirsty and at risk of disease. Safe water was the top priority. Tanti used to spend hours a day collecting water. Now thanks to ACT Alliance there is a water tap 10 metres from her temporary home. One year later most communities have new boreholes, managed by local committees thanks to ACT Alliance. Meeting the demand for water after a disaster is the beginning of recovery. Share safe water, save lives. Support the 2019 Christmas Appeal.
Christmas Day Give Good Health, Give Life		It would not be Christmas without a baby! A young Palestinian mother wants her young son to have a good life despite the many hurdles he will face. Clean, safe water is essential for baby's health, and in short supply. Families must buy safe water to drink. The lack of safe water threatens the health of many families. For Syrian and Palestinian refugees access to primary healthcare for mothers and children up to age six is a special gift. Regular check ups and vaccinations with doctors and other medical staff make sure new babies get a good

		start to life. Free medical care and supplementary food at DSPR's primary health clinics make the difference for people facing an uncertain future. Give good health, give life. Support the 2019 Christmas Appeal.
